CHAPTER 2 CERTIFICATION OF MANAGEMENT SYSTEMS

2.1 General

- 1 When making an application of the management systems certification, the organization shall conclude the certification agreement with the Society about the matter to be agreed each other.
- 2 When making an application of the management systems certification, the organization shall provide the following information:

- (1) required scope for certification,
- (2) relevant details of the organization,
To include the name and addresses of its site(s) (sometimes, more than one), processes and operations, human and technical resources, functions, relationships and any relevant legal obligations,
- (3) identification of outsourced processes used by the organization that will affect conformity to requirements,
- (4) applicable standard to be certified, and
- (5) whether consultancy relating to the management system to be certified has been provided and, if so, by whom.

Upon receipt of the application, the Society shall check and confirm the applied business scope and activities of the organization, and thereupon, the Society may request modification to the contents of the application through mutual consultation if necessary.

When a relationship between the Society and the organization poses an unacceptable threat to impartiality, then the Society shall not receive the application.

- 3 The objective scope of the organization for certification should be decided in consideration of the systems, functions and other necessary matters of the organization.

When defining the scope, the Society should confirm the following matters.

- (1) The organizations having more than one operating units may be regarded as a single object for certification if they satisfy all the following conditions:
 - a) All organizations belong to one complex organization and are located in a limited area,
 - b) All organizations are in operation under the control of the common management or comprehensive management of the complex organization,
 - c) The management systems in each organization is properly operated under the control of common management representative or comprehensive management representative, and
 - d) All organizations have the same management systems and have similar procedures based on the same management systems.
- (2) Where the organization has more than one sorts of the activities, the certification may be limited to some sorts of the activities.
- (3) Sub-contractors are not included in the scope of the audit in principle.
However, the actual management statuses in the sub-contractors should be audited as deemed necessary by the Society.

2.4 Use of Certification Mark and Reference to Certification

2.4.1 Use of Certification Mark

The Society is to provide the criteria for use certification mark and the figure of the reproduction proof to the certified organizations.

2.4.2 Reference to Certification

- 1 The certified organization shall conform to the following requirements when making reference to its certification status in communication media such as the internet, brochures or advertising, or other documents
 - (1) does not make or permit any misleading statement regarding its certification;
 - (2) does not use or permit the use of a certificate or any part thereof in a misleading manner;
 - (3) does not use or permit the use of audit reports or any part thereof in a misleading manner;
 - (4) upon withdrawal of its certification, discontinues its use of all advertising matter that contains a reference to certification, as directed by the Society;
 - (5) amends all advertising matter appropriately when the scope of certification has been reduced;
 - (6) does not allow reference to its management system certification to be used in such away as to imply that the Society certifies a product (including service) or process;
 - (7) does not imply that the certification applies to activities and sites that are outside the scope of certification;
 - (8) does not use its certification in such a manner that would bring the Society and/or certification system into disrepute and lose public trust.

- 2 When the certified organization uses any statement on product packaging or in accompanying information that it has a certified management system, the statement shall in no way imply that the product, process or service is certified by this means.

The statement shall include reference to:

- a) identification (e.g. brand or name) of the certified organization;
- b) the type of management system (e.g. quality, environment) and the applicable standard;
- c) the certification body issuing the certificate.

Product packaging is considered as that which can be removed without the product disintegrating or being damaged. Type labels or identification plates are considered as part of the product. Accompanying information is considered as separately available or easily detachable.

- 3 When the incorrect references to certification status or misleading use of certificates or audit reports are identified, the certified organization shall take corrections and corrective actions. Where the adequate actions cannot be verified, the Society shall take such actions could include suspension, withdrawal of certification, publication of the transgression and, if necessary, legal action.

2.5 Maintaining certification

- 2 The certified organization informs the Society, without delay, of changes that may affect the capability of the management systems to continue to fulfill the requirements of the standard used for certification.

Changes include those relating to:

- (1) the legal, commercial, organization status or ownership,
- (2) organization and management,
- (3) contact address and sites,
- (4) applied scope of the management systems, and
- (5) major change to the management systems and the process.

2.7 Refusing, Withdrawing, Suspending, Restoring following Suspension, Expanding or Reducing the Scope of Certification

- 1 With regard to the provision of 2.7.3 -1 (3) of the Rules, the “intentional false statements” means that the certified organization provides the auditor with false information and/or data which would mislead the auditor to have serious influence on judgment in the certification, or that it covers up the real fact intentionally at the time of the audits.
- 2 With regard to the provision of 2.7.2 -1(6) of the Rules, what the organization’s activities have been suspended for a long time means the organization’s activities suspended for one year and more.
- 3 With regard to the provision of 2.7.3 -2 of the Rules, a time of the suspension the Society sets should not exceed 6 months.

2.8 Transfer of Certification

The “specified requirements” written in the provision of 2.8 of the Rules are the following, and necessary confirmation shall be made for fulfillment of the situation with these requirements through the review of documents submitted by the applicant organization, visiting to the site(s) of the organization, communication with the issuing certification body, etc.:
