

The Review of the Test Items in the Sea Trials

Amended Rules and Guidance

Rules for Automatic and Remote Control Systems

Guidance for Automatic and Remote Control Systems

Reason for Amendment

The rules for sea trials are primarily based on Japanese Industrial Standards (JIS). However, due to improvements made in machine performance in recent years, it has become possible to shorten the required testing time for certain test items. Therefore, a review of such test times and the introduction of more flexible testing methods were being demanded by relevant industries.

For this reason, relevant provisions related to the sea trials for Monitoring and Control Systems for Periodically Unattended Machinery Spaces have been amended to reorganize items requiring confirmation and introduce more logical testing methods based on actual practice.

Outline of Amendment

Relevant provisions related to the unattended machinery operation tests and black-out tests for Monitoring and Control Systems for Periodically Unattended Machinery Spaces have been amended.
